

Abstract

- A lightweight, easily installed motorcycle securing device useful in transport of a motorcycle on a flat platform or trailer which provides for cuffs over the handlebars, tie down straps connected to the cuffs, and an adjustable tension connector strap between the cuffs.
- 5 Construction from non-abrasive materials and provision for utilization of connection strap padding ensure that no marring of the paint or finish of the motorcycle being transported or damage to the handlebar grips or handlebar grip controls will occur.